Missionaries to the Japanese in Seattle

July 12, 2010

Ahh... children, grandchildren, & great-grandchildren!

When a child is born it is exciting! As true as it is of physical birth, it is true of spiritual birth. If you have prayed, supported, encouraged, or have done anything in any way to make this evangelism ministry possible - such as local Christians giving students rides home or donating food, your spiritual family is growing! In less than three years, we have seen three generations of spiritual births.

You see, several years ago, Yusuke (above) became a believer here. When he returned to Japan, he met Mari (in picture # 1, she is on the left). He took her to church, and she confessed her faith in Christ. Mari arrived here in April, and she also has been influential in several others regularly attending church. Chihiro (pic. 2, right) and Yuka have gotten saved!

Kaori (pic. 2, left) and Honoka (pic. 3, left) are attending church regularly and are spiritually open and seeking. Let's pray, pray, pray! These five along with Natsuki (pic. 3, right) and Yuri (pic. 4, left) are also regularly attending a Bible study.

While some of this year's new group of students are believing and others are seeking, some have closed hearts right now. But, all are hearing a very clear and thorough presentation of the Gospel in their heart language. All will return to Japan having heard the truth. We know from experience that Japanese who have been ministered to abroad are some of the most receptive to ever enter a church in Japan.

Saying thank you so very much for making this ministry possible is such an understatement.

Please pray...

- for the spiritual growth of these Japanese young believers.
- for parents to bless their baptism.
- for unbelievers to be willing to yield their hearts to Christ.

- for a critical financial need.
- for our sons. Josh recently graduated from high school, and Jon will be graduating from college next May. Please pray for them as they seek God's will for the next season in their lives.
